Devising strategies for better management of cases

We must shun the habit of putting every sort of blame on our judicial process in not having disposal of cases expedited. The reasons for prolonged flitgations, entangled procedural delays hence cases piling up are many for which a rethinking, evolving strategies and devising better ways to present, handle and follow up cases in the courts is ter ways to present, handle and follow up cases in the courts is required now as never before. We know a large number of court cases emanate from the Government due to certain decisions felt or taken as unfavourable by the "aggreed" parties or the claim of denial of the rightful dues of various hues from the Government to individuals or groups of individuals. therefore, the Government (Departments) facing the judicial process both as petitioner as well as respondent means, as a natural corollary, number of cases to be handled by its Law Officers. However, it would be quite interesting to note, as to gen erally speaking, what remains the status of these cases and whethe they are handled quite professionally and meticulously by the Law Officers who are assigned the duty by the Government to file and pur-sue such cases in the courts. Well, the observation and facts reveal not an overall satisfactory picture. Delays are caused and what more dis turbing could it be than delays taking place in deciding the cases an overall satisfactory picture. Delays are caused and what more dis-turbing could it for but nodespo taking pice in deciding the cases— therefore, the High Court has rightly advised the Government to come up with a better plan which would revolve around the premise of avoiding delays in disposal of cases. The question, therefore, is that sould the entire piccoses fight from the way and the manner of alla-decision conveyed, be looked into afresh with intert or manner of alla-decision conveyed, be looked into afresh with intert or manner of alla-decision conveyed, be looked into afresh with intert or manner of alla-decision conveyed, be looked into afresh with intert or manner of alla-decision conveyed, be looked into afresh with intert or minimize. If not avoid all adoptive, the delays caused. The court having admits of Court and a consideration of the conveyed of the court has a really commendable and must be followed in letter and spirit. Allor of which particular desartment or wing; is what the court has any control of the court has a specifically with a court has any or a support of the court has a specifically what could be a supported to the court and the court has a specifically what the court has a specifically and the cases that only the propriet of the court has a specifically and the cases that the court has a specifically and the cases that only being in a position to attending whole-heartedly all the cases entirested to ham/ her by the prevalent system. Officero' Coursel remains confluence to a principal court only the court may, therefore, get due and required" assistance" from such coursel to help in cutting on delays and deciding coase expeditions.). It may be help in cutting on delays and deciding cases expeditiously. It may be reiterated that the Government both as petitioner as well as respon dent , as the case may be , is entitled to the right to a speedy trial bu ing of cases by its co lead to considerable delays. The fact that despite several statutes pro infulfilled and thus remaining a distant dream. Delays cause niling o cases undecided, delays cause more costs and avoidable expe lelays cause anguish and perpetual tension, delays cause a feeling t be nursed about justice denied thus requiring rescheduling, revamp ing , relocating and rethinking to come up with better plans and tegies even we can call these as small reforms. Not that the robus udicial system is not aware of the phenomenon and till the system is settered through a legislation , there are several guidelines through judgments of High Courts and Supreme Court that can be relied upon for cutting on delays and expediting trials/ hearings . The suggestions / guidelines from the High Court in respect of assigning one court to / guidelines from the High Court in respect of assigning one court to one Government counts freather due to each in respect of Phalagum come Government counts from the count in respect of Phalagum through present in the concerned court had the file with some other counsel attending to a case in another court. Devising strategies for better management of cases

We must shun the habit of putting every sort of blame on our judicial process in not having disposal of cases expedited. The reasons for prolonged flitgations, entangled procedural delays hence cases piling up are many for which a rethinking, evolving strategies and devising better ways to present, handle and follow up cases in the courts is ter ways to present, handle and follow up cases in the courts is required now as never before. We know a large number of court cases emanate from the Government due to certain decisions felt or taken as unfavourable by the "aggreeder" parties or the claim of denial of the rightful dues of various hues from the Government to individuals or groups of individuals. therefore, the Government (Departments) facing the judicial process both as petitioner as well as respondent means, as a natural corollary, number of cases to be handled by its Law Officers. However, it would be quite interesting to note, as to gen erally speaking, what remains the status of these cases and whethe they are handled quite professionally and meticulously by the Law Officers who are assigned the duty by the Government to file and pur-sue such cases in the courts. Well, the observation and facts reveal not an overall satisfactory picture. Delays are caused and what more dis turbing could it be than delays taking place in deciding the cases an overall satisfactory picture. Delays are caused and what more dis-turbing could it for but nodespo taking pice in deciding the cases— therefore, the High Court has rightly advised the Government to come up with a better plan which would revolve around the premise of avoiding delays in disposal of cases. The question, therefore, is that sould the entire piccoses fight from the way and the manner of alla-decision conveyed, be looked into afresh with intert or manner of alla-decision conveyed, be looked into afresh with intert or manner of alla-decision conveyed, be looked into afresh with intert or manner of alla-decision conveyed, be looked into afresh with intert or manner of alla-decision conveyed, be looked into afresh with intert or minimize. If not avoid all adoptive, the delays caused. The court having admits of Court and a consideration of the conveyed of the court has a really commendable and must be followed in letter and spirit. Allor of which particular desartment or wing; is what the court has any control of the court has a specifically with a court has any or a support of the court has a specifically what could be a supported to the court and the court has a specifically what the court has a specifically and the cases that only the propriet of the court has a specifically and the cases that the court has a specifically and the cases that only being in a position to attending whole-heartedly all the cases entirested to ham/ her by the prevalent system. Officero' Coursel remains confluence to a principal court only the court may, therefore, get due and required" assistance" from such coursel to help in cutting on delays and deciding coase expeditions.). It may be help in cutting on delays and deciding cases expeditiously. It may be reiterated that the Government both as petitioner as well as respon dent , as the case may be , is entitled to the right to a speedy trial bu ing of cases by its co lead to considerable delays. The fact that despite several statutes pro infulfilled and thus remaining a distant dream. Delays cause niling o cases undecided, delays cause more costs and avoidable expe lelays cause anguish and perpetual tension, delays cause a feeling t be nursed about justice denied thus requiring rescheduling, revam tegies even we can call these as small reforms. Not that the robus udicial system is not aware of the phenomenon and till the system is settered through a legislation , there are several guidelines through judgments of High Courts and Supreme Court that can be relied upon for cutting on delays and expediting trials/ hearings . The suggestions / guidelines from the High Court in respect of assigning one court to / guidelines from the High Court in respect of assigning one court to one Government counts freather due to each in respect of Phalagum come Government counts from the count in respect of Phalagum through present in the concerned court had the file with some other counsel attending to a case in another court. Mockery of investigation

Just a few days ago MP HC had delivered a Judgement when a stu-dent who was studying in Fourth year MBBS course was falsely implicated in a criminal case and remained in the jail for number of remained in the jain for number of years and the court had passed the stringent strictures against the investigation agencies and ques-tioned who is responsible for false-ly implicating the innocent student who at that time was studying in who at that time was studying in Fourth year of MBBS degree. Now present case is of Aryan Khan who had been also implicated in false case just for the purpose of exciton of money and such type of witch-hunting in the name of law The charge-heet filed by NGB dropping the case against Aryan because of mo evidence" provides anti-climax episode. It also puts a question on the court which falled to like up to the basic of justice that an accused is innecent until that an accused is innocent until proven guilty and the ball and not the jail during the period of trial. Even during trial it was presented as if Aryan had international drug connections. Now department had dropped all charges against son of Actor Shahruth Khan and it is clear that someone wanted to remain Arvan in Jail for fulfilmer remain Aryan in Jail for fulfilment of malicious designs so that image may be fully tarnished of the actor. For this bootched investigation responsible Officials should be appropriately punished and which will be lesson for others and if no punishment is given for such erring Officials there can not be erring Officials there can not be any improvement in the system. Both above cases relate to false implication of innocents, and is totally mockery of investigation. Yash Pal Raihan, Jalandhar
