CM slams 'Adipurush' over portrayal of Lord Ram

Savs govt will think about ban if people want

Raipur, Jun 17: Chief Minister Bhupesh Baghel on Saturday alleged an attempt was made to tarnish the image of Lord Ram and Lord Hanuman in the movie "Adipurush' and said the Congress government may consider banning it in the state if people demand so.

logues in the film are "objectionable and indecent" and questioned the "silence" of political parties which call themselves the custodian of religion, an apparent jibe at BJP. When asked by re-few years an attempt is being made to change this image," he told reporters He alleged that diaat his official residence.

Baghel said Hanuman has been introduced as a symbol of wisdom, power and devotion since our childhood, but in this film, "Lord Ram is shown as the 'Yuddhak' (warrior) Ram and Hanuman as the porters whether the state angry bird".

government will ban this movie, Baghel said, "The government will think about it (ban) if people will raise a demand in this direction".

"The dialogues and language used in this movie "An attempt is being are indecent. In Tulasidas' made to tarnish the image Ramayana, Lord Ram was portraved as 'Marvada of all our deities. We have Purushottam' and decent seen the gentle face of Lord Ram and that of Lord language was used. In Hanuman drenched in de-'Adipurush', dialogues of characters are of very low votion, but from the last level," he said. Prabhas-starrer "Adipurush", a retelling of the epic Ramayana, was released on Friday.

"When Rajiv Gandhi was the prime minister, he had suggested to Ramanand Sagar to make the epic serial Ramavana which became hugely popular. The pictures of Lord Ram and Hanuman were distorted on the pretext of 'Adipurush' and indecent words were put in the mouths of the characters. What the young generation will learn from this?" he questioned.

He alleged Lord Bajrang bali is made to speak the language of Bajrang Dal in this movie.

"Why people of those political parties who call them the custodian of religion are silent on this movie? Why BJP leaders who kept giving statements on 'The Kashmir Files' and 'The Kerala Story' are silent on 'Adipursh'? Even lowerrung leaders of the BJP are not speaking anything on this," Baghel alleged. Chhattisgarh goes to polls later this year.

Raipur, Jun 17: Advocate in the Supreme Court Ashwini Upadhyay said that religious conversion is biggest threat to establishing 'Ram Rajya' in the country , apart from casteism. Naxalism. Maoism just to name a few. Holding need for major judicial reforms and new laws in the country, Ashwini claimed that 80% of the solution to country's problems lies in the hands of law and both the Centre and state should take initiative to form new laws and make reforms at their own level. so as to grant timely justice to people. Addressing a press conference here prior to the lecture series on 'Ram Rajya and Indian Constitution', SC Advocate Ashwini Upadhyay informed that this is being organized in and in Raipur on June 18 at MAIC auditorium.

Terming population explosion as the biggest problem in the country, Advocate Ashwini Upadhyay said that in the human history, it was Lord Shri Ram who started the policy of birth control through 'Hum Do Hamare do' and that of Common Civil Code and Common Education System. He said that the Constitution of India is advocates establishing 'Ram Rajya', be it 'Vasudev Kutumbakam' or 'Sarv Dharm Sambhav' or 'Sabka Vikas-Desh Ka Vikas' and this needs to be intensively promoted as well. Holding need to change many a laws in the judiciary, Advocate Upadhyay said that Indian laws have been made by the Britishers and still it requires massive changes and reforms, as there is vast different between Indian thinking and that of foreigners. Even the founders of the wanted Constitution India's constitution based upon 'Ram Rajya'. To a question as to whether India should be called 'Hindu Rashtra' or 'Ram Rajya', Upadhyay said that the makers of the Constitution favoured 'Ram Rajya' and Hindism is a way of life and it just does not excludes the philosophy of 'Ram Rajya', be it equality, fundamental rights or others. Charging that religious conversion going on is in Chhattisgarh on a large scale, Advocate Upadhyay questioned as to why the state government has not imposed NSA against those involved till date. Claiming that it is being done in an organized manner, it is not only affecting a family, but a person's thoughts, religious function and overall patriotism. Irrespective of the government in power, both the Centre and state must imposed strict ban on religious conversion, then be it through NSA or Gangster Act or others, he added.

It is notable here that SC Ashwini Advocate Upadhyay is known for filing many petitions in the Court be it on social, law administration or others and in last five years he has got the honour of filing more than 50 petitions in the Court and his efforts were praised by the SC in July 2022 saying that a special bench be formed for the petitions filed by Advocate Ashwini Upadhyay. Through a petition in 2021, he played an important role wherein it was directed that no criminal cases against any MLA or MP be withdrawn without the permission of High Court of that particular state.

Among other party leaders, Marriyum Aurangzeb was picked as the secretary of information, Ataullah Tarar as the deputy secretary, and Ishaq Dar as the secretary of finance and overseas affairs.

The elections were uncontested, apparently indicating a show of unity within the PML-N, but actually an indication of the iron grip by the Sharif family members who virtually hand-picked every office holder of the party. Shehbaz was elevated in 2018 to hold the reins of the party after his elder brother as well as former premier Nawaz Sharif was first disqualified as prime minister and later barred by the country's apex court to lead the party as the president.

Monsoon Relief

Biparjoy's Remnant Signals Hope for East India

he monsoon's progress over east India has been hindered by a prolonged heat wave and the absence of any significant weather systems over the Bay of Bengal. However, meteorologists now foresee a glimmer of hope in the form of the remnant of cyclone Biparjoy. This residual weather phenomenon is expected to bring much-needed rain to parts of Uttar Pradesh and Madhya Pradesh, while also assisting in the advancement of the monsoon. According to experts, Biparjoy's remnants are projected to move in a north-eastward direction, resulting in rainfall across central and east Uttar Pradesh as well as Madhya Pradesh. While monitoring the situation, Mrutyunjay Mohapatara, Director General of the Indian Meteorological Department (IMD), highlighted that additional factors such as an increase in cross-equatorial flow over the Arabian Sea and the Bay of Bengal could also contribute to the monsoon's advancement alongside the cyclone remnants. Favorable conditions for the monsoon's progress over east India and other parts of the southern region are expected from June 18 to June 21, as stated by IMD's Director General. Mahesh Palawat, the vice president of meteorology and climate change at Skymet Weather, further elaborated that after delivering heavy rainfall in Rajasthan, the system would pull the monsoonal winds, facilitating the monsoon's advancement over central and east India starting from June 20. While some meteorologists attribute the delayed and relatively mild onset of the monsoon over Kerala to the presence of the cyclone, the IMD holds a different perspective. Regardless, the monsoon has already covered several regions, including the northeast, Tamil Nadu, Kerala, parts of Andhra Pradesh, Karnataka, Bihar, and West Bengal. It is worth noting that a delayed monsoon onset over Kerala does not necessarily indicate a delay in the monsoon's arrival over northwest India. Scientists have observed that even during El Niño years, which typically result in weaker monsoon winds and drier conditions in India, the impact on the total rainfall during the season is not significant. As the monsoon season progresses, normal rainfall becomes crucial for India's agricultural landscape. Approximately 52 percent of the country's cultivated area depends on the monsoon, which is essential for food production, water reservoir replenishment, and power generation. The IMD predicts normal to belownormal rainfall in northwest India, while the east and northeast, central, and south peninsula regions are expected to receive rainfall within 94-106 percent of the long-period average. Maintaining normal rainfall levels is vital for India's food security and economic stability, as rainfed agriculture alone contributes about 40 percent of the country's total food production. While challenges persist, the remnants of Biparjoy offer hope for the advancement of the monsoon and relief for east India, where anticipation for rain has been building amidst the scorching heat.

Rising Terror Threat UN Report Highlights Afghanistan's Troubling Landscape

recent United Nations report on terrorism in Afghanistan has shed light on the deep-rooted connections between the Taliban, Al-Qaeda, and the Tehrik-e-Taliban Pakistan (TTP). These alliances paint a grim picture of the escalating terrorism threat faced not only by Afghanistan but also by the entire region. Despite the Taliban's assurances of countering terrorism, their continued support for extremist groups and their request for counter-terrorism assistance against their rival ISIL-Khorasan Province (ISIL-K) raise serious concerns. India, in particular, must remain vigilant as it faces direct threats from Al-Qaeda in the Indian Subcontinent (AOIS) and the Islamic State of Irag and the Levant (ISIL) in Khorasan, both operating from Afghanistan. AQIS explicitly targets India as one of its primary objectives, aiming to establish an Islamic Caliphate in the Indian subcontinent through the overthrow of existing governments and the imposition of its extremist ideology. AQIS has been involved in various terrorist activities in India, including attacks, recruitment, and radicalization efforts. ISIL-Khorasan Province, also known as ISIL-K, is a regional branch of ISIL operating in Afghanistan and Pakistan, with its focus on establishing a presence in the Khorasan region, which spans parts of Afghanistan, Pakistan, Iran, and Central Asia. The recent arrest of individuals linked to the ISIL-K module in Kashmir and Guiarat underscores the imminent threat posed by these terrorist organizations operating from Afghanistan. The presence and activities of these terrorist groups in Afghanistan pose a grave threat to India's security and interests. These organizations, including the Taliban, Al-Qaeda, and TTP, have historically maintained close ties with extremist elements in Pakistan. Afghan territory has been exploited as a safe haven for planning, training, and launching attacks. The dissemination of extremist ideologies through online platforms further exacerbates the radicalization of vulnerable individuals, inciting them to carry out acts of terrorism within India. Additionally, Afghanistan's status as a major producer of illicit drugs, particularly opium and heroin, adds another layer of concern. Terrorist organizations often engage in drug trafficking to fund their operations, with the consequences of this illicit trade already being felt in India, contributing to drug abuse, addiction, and associated social problems. The repercussions of terrorist attacks, refugee influxes, and the spread of extremist ideologies extend beyond national borders, leading to regional tensions and security challenges. In light of these factors, it is imperative for India to closely monitor and address the threat posed by these terrorist organizations. Cooperation with international partners, intelligence sharing, robust border management, and effective counter-terrorism measures are essential to mitigate this menace and uphold regional security. Jammu and Kashmir, as a historically targeted region. must remain extra vigilant. The involvement of Kashmiri youth in the ISIL-Khorasan module serves as a stark reminder of the ongoing challenges. Strengthening intelligence capabilities becomes paramount in the face of these evolving threats. Furthermore, it is crucial to closely scrutinize the actions and policies of the Taliban Government and assess their impact on regional and global security. The international community must actively engage in monitoring and influencing the trajectory of Afghanistan to ensure stability and prevent the resurgence of terrorist networks. As terrorism continues to pose a significant threat, collective efforts and a comprehensive approach are necessary to safeguard peace, stability, and the well-being of nations in the region. Only through steadfast cooperation, intelligence-driven strategies, and resolute action can we effectively counter the growing terrorism menace emanating from Afghanistan and protect the shared interests of all nations involved.

Understanding the Usefulness of 'Jaan hai to jahan hai' in the Monsoon

RAIENDER KUMAR SHARMA

T he monsoon is grauuany becoming active in the southern regions of the country, marking the beginning of the rainy season. The sound of rain, the sweet smell of wet soil, and the greenery all around fill everyone with excitement and glee. During the rainy season, there is an increased demand for hot pakoras and tea. Everyone craves something hot, spicy, and fried. It feels just right to indulge in such food. However, this season also brings several cautionarv troubles

The arrival of monsoon after the scorching heat brings along viral, bacterial, fungal, vectorborne, and water-borne diseases. The reason behind this is that pathogenic microorganisms find a suitable warm and moist environment to multiply. Many health problems arise during this season due to contaminated food and water, such as cold, flu, malaria, dengue, typhoid, stomach-related diseases, and skin diseases. In such situations, our immunity acts as a shield against diseases, and maintaining healthy dietary habits also helps in disease prevention. By controlling our cravings, we can protect ourselves from illnesses. In our country, the rainy season lasts mainly for four months, known as Chaturmas (a group of four months). According to our ancient practices, there has been a tradition of fasting or consuming light, simple food during these four months, allowing our digestive system to rest and function properly. However, nowadays, we tend to go against these practices and invite diseases by consuming spicy, fried, and rich foods in the name of taste.

To ensure a balanced nutrition and immunity, it is crucial to maintain a diet that strikes a good balance between the two In this season, you should pay special attention to what you eat and drink. Some general nutrition principles can help you stay healthy and enjoy the season. Here are some good food and diet habits that contribute to good health even in this season: Consumption of foods rich in Vitamin C: Vitamin C helps boost the body's immunity. Include citrus fruits and vegetables in your diet, such as lemon, amla, tomato, orange, sweet lime, tangerine, and papaya. Vitamin C aids in fighting infections like and strengthens bones.

Understanding the medicinal properties of spices: Some spices, like black pepper, turmeric, garlic, and ginger, strengthen our immune system. Use them for their nutritional benefits, not just for taste. Consuming basil, ginger decoction, lemon ginger water, etc., provides health benefits.

Turmeric: Turmeric is considered an immune booster in Ayurveda and is known as the Golden Spice of the Kitchen. The curcumin element present in turmeric has anti-infective properties. Drinking turmeric milk at home is still a common practice. Turmeric has antiseptic, antifungal, and antimicrobial properties.

Indian Tea (Decoction): Herbs like dry black pepper, ginger, cloves, cinnamon, cardamom, and basil leaves aid in boosting our immunity. Boil these ingredients well in water to make Indian tea or decoction. Cardamom and clove have antibacterial properties, black pepper prevents cold and flu, and cinnamon aids in blood circulation. Kadha can be a great alternative to tea during the monsoon.

Consuming plenty of water:

cold and flu, improves digestion, the monsoon season. The temperature and humidity conditions create an ideal environment for bacterial and fungal growth in food, leading to quick contamination and potential health risks

> Avoid fried and stale food: While it's acceptable to enjoy fried foods like samosas or fritters in moderation during this season, excessive consumption can cause stomach problems. Digestive issues, intestinal inflammation, vomiting, and diarrhea are some common problems that can arise. It's crucial to exercise control and moderation when indulging in such foods.

By following the aforementioned household and general dietary practices, we can significantly reduce the risk of infections during the monsoon season. With controlled and mindful food choices, we can fully enjoy the season. As the saying goes, "Jaan hai to jahan hai," meaning nothing is more important than health. As we embrace the monsoon season, let's remember to prioritize our well-being. Along with nourishing our bodies with immunity-boosting foods and adopting healthy habits, we should also be mindful of maintaining hygiene, such as washing hands frequently and consuming clean and filtered water. These practices will help us stay healthy and make the most of this beautiful season filled with the joy of rain, the fragrance of wet soil, and the lush greenery all around.

Modi Government's Interference

The Modi government, allegedly aided by the Delhi Police, is accused of undermining a sexual harassment case involving Brij Bhushan Sharan Singh. Critics argue that the government aims to weaken the case, securing Singh's exoneration. Wrestler girls' testimonies should be taken seriously, given the prevalence of sexual harassment among women athletes. This situation draws parallels to the Larry Nassar case, where a doctor abused numerous young female athletes for years. However, obtaining concrete evidence in cases involving guardian misconduct is challenging, emphasizing the importance of trusting the wrestlers' accounts. Concerns arise regarding justice in a country where political power plays a significant role, especially with an approaching election. Additionally, suspicions persist that the government pressured a minor's father into retracting his daughter's complaint, further eroding rights and personal opinions of young women regarding harassment. The Delhi Police's swift dismissal of evidence and request to cancel the POCSO case exemplify the influence of powerful figures in Indian politics. The athletes' quest for justice remains doubtful.

Rahul's Truck Journey

Congress leader Rahul Gandhi embarked on a unique adventure during his visit to the United States, traveling from Washington to New York in a truck. This isn't the first time Gandhi has taken to the roads in a truck: he previously undertook a similar journey in Punjab to understand the challenges faced by truck drivers. Throughout his trip, he emphasized that American trucks are far more comfortable than their Indian counterparts, highlighting the lack of concern for driver comfort in India. Tejinder Gill, a truck driver accompanying him, expressed admiration for the high level of safety and the absence of police interference and theft concerns in American trucks. Gandhi believes that the Indian government should prioritize providing similar facilities in trucks and eradicate corruption, thereby ensuring a prosperous and secure

Internet: Balancing Act

In the modern era, the internet has seamlessly integrated into our daily lives, making it nearly impossible to disconnect. The internet brings a multitude of advantages, including online education, easy access to information, cashless transactions, and global connectivity. However, its impact on children and students is a concern, often diverting their attention from studies. It is crucial for parents and teachers to play an active role in guiding young individuals on the responsible and positive use of digital tools while helping them navigate away from the potential negative effects. By striking a balance, we can harness the internet's potential while safeguarding the well-being of our younger generation.

Sacred Journey: The Splendor of Rathyatra

Rathin Kumar Chanda

ehold the revered pilgrimage В that unites India, connecting every corner of the nation through roadways, railways, and air. This hallowed destination, known far and wide, radiates its divine aura through the Jagannath Temple and the grand spectacle of Rathyatra, an annual festival that enthralls the masses in Puri. For 42 days, the resplendent Rath or chariot is painstakingly crafted with 4000 sacred woods, transported via riverways. Once the Rathyatra concludes, these woods are used to prepare the voga, a symbolic food offering to Lord Jagannath for the entire year.

Throughout history, the Rathyatra of Puri has faced numerous disruptions, with various rulers attempting to assert control over this sacred procession and even demolish the Hindu archaeological foundation. From 1568 to 1577, the Rathyatra was halted for a formidable nine years due to the villainous actions of Kalapahar. Attacks on Puri led to suspensions in 1601. 1607, 1611, and 1617. Muslim rulers unleashed an assault on the Puri temple, resulting in a two-year suspension from 1621 to 1623. The most prolonged interruption occurred from 1692, lasting a staggering 13 years. Another black year arrived in 1731, with the Rathyatra ceasing for three years until 1735.

Puri holds a special place in the hearts of Bengalis, serving as the ideal destination for a comfortable, secure, and delightful getaway. It embodies the dreams of Bengalis, a place where they can visit at any time of the year without the burden of exorbitant hotel expenses or everyday life pressures. Puri has become a second home for Bengalis, with their thoughts instantly gravitating towards this enchanting location whenever the idea of a tour emerges.

Indeed, Puri offers tranquility by the sea, a haven for those seeking solace. Time loses its significance as days, weeks, and even months pass beside the Bay of Bengal, with waves crashing onto the shores. The mesmerizing vistas of sunrise and sunset paint nature's canvas with breathtaking beauty. Each visit unveils a new facet of this enchanting coastal destination, where the allure of its natural wonders seems limitless. As night falls, the sight of candlelit trawlers adrift in the sea, fishing for their bounty, is a captivating sight. The diligent lifeguards, or Nulias, are always vigilant in ensuring the safety of tourists.

Another delightful surprise awaits within the realms of the Jagannath Temple, where the architectural marvels and archaeological wonders leave an indelible impression on all who visit. Bengalis have known Lord Jagannath since the days of Sri Chaitanya, who embarked on a pilgrimage to Puri to seek darshan of his beloved deity, Lord Krishna, in the form of Lord Jagannath. The temple premises. steeped in historical and mythical significance, never cease to fascinate disciples who come to pay their respects.

Witnessing the flag-hoisting ceremony atop the temple at dusk is a spectacle that captivates the senses. Each day, curious onlookers ascend the temple steps, eagerly awaiting this momentous event. The temple opens its doors to countless devotees from around the world, granting them the privilege of witnessing Lord Jagannath's divine presence, free of charge. For those fortunate enough, the opportunity to have a personal encounter with Lord Jagannath through a payon-visit arrangement is truly a cherished moment. Anticipation builds as devotees eagerly await the prasad, the sacred offering from the temple. Each culinary creation from this revered place becomes a source of joy and fulfillment for the faithful followers. The flavors and aromas of the prasad tantalize the taste buds, creating a sense of anticination and spiritual nourishment. Rathyatra and the Jagannath

Temple stand as testaments to the enduring faith and devotion of millions of devotees. Despite the challenges and disruptions faced over the years, the spirit of this grand festival remains unyielding. It is a reminder of the profound connection between the divine and the mortal, and the unwavering belief that transcends time. As we embark on this sacred journey, let us cherish

the traditions and cultural heritage that Rathyatra represents. Let us honor the struggles and sacrifices of our ancestors who fought to preserve this ancient pilgrimage. May the divine blessings of Lord Jagannath guide us along the path of righteousness and fill our hearts with love, compassion, and spiritual enlightenment.

Rathyatra is not merely a procession; it is a celebration of faith, unity, and devotion. It serves as a reminder of our collective responsibility to safeguard our cultural heritage and uphold the sanctity of holy places. Let us come together, as one community, to protect and preserve the sacredness of Rathyatra for future generations. As the sun sets on the horizon, let us revel in the beauty of this mystical coastal town and immerse ourselves in the divine aura that envelops Puri. Let us embrace the tranquility of the sea, the serenity of the temple, and the camaraderie of fellow devotees. May this Rathyatra awaken our souls, ignite our spirits. and inspire us to lead lives filled with devotion, compassion, and righteousness.

So, my fellow travelers on this spiritual odyssey, let us embark on this sacred Rathyatra with reverence, gratitude, and a deep sense of awe. Let us cherish the memories we create, the blessings we receive, and the lessons we learn along the way. May the divine presence of Lord Jagannath guide us on this holy pilgrimage and may our journey be filled with resplendent joy, inner peace, and divine blessings. Rathyatra beckons us, and it is our duty to heed its call. Let us embark on this transformative journey, united in our faith and reverence, as we pay homage to the eternal divine.

Jai Jagannath!

Satwik-Chirag enter final, England on top as Broad, Stokes take key wickets Prannoy exits in semis

Jakarta, Jun 17 (PTI):

Indian men's doubles duo of Satwiksairaj Rankireddy and Chirag Shetty fought hard to advance to the final, but it was curtains for HS Prannoy in the men's singles semifinals of the Indonesia Open World Tour Super 1000 event here on Saturday.

The Commonwealth Games gold medalist duo of Satwik and Chirag, seeded seventh, overcame a game deficit to beat unseeded Min Hyuk Kang and Seung Jae Seo of Korea 17-21 21-19 21-18 to seal their maiden Super-1000 final berth.

The win also extended their overall head-to-head record over Kang and Seo to 3-2.

World No 6 Satwik and Chirag will face the winners Pramudya Kusumawardana and Yoche Yeremia Erich Rambitan Yacob of Indonesia and second seeds Aaron Chia and Wooi Yik Soh of Malaysia. However, Prannoy failed against top seed Viktor Axelsen of Denmark, going down 15-21 15-21. Prannoy played the catch up game from the onset. He showed sparks in between riding on his next game as Axelsen continued to maintain his upperhand and pocket the game and match in identical manner.

It was Prannoy's sixth loss against the Dane in the international circuit as against two wins.

The men's doubles began on an even keel before the Korean pair surged ahead to 6-3. Once they conceded the lead, Satwik and Chirag were forced to play a catchup game.

The Indians used their aggressive play to reduce the margin to 15-19 and then 17-20 before Kang and Seo kept their composure to pocket the first game, courtesy an unforced error.

The Indians looked more purposeful after the change of ends and took an early 6-3 lead before racing to 11-4 with a flurry of fast paced shots and body smashes in the second game.

Satwik and Chirag were also helped by some bad line calls and unforced er-

But the Indians managed to hold on to their nerves and played sensibly to pocket the second game and level the scores.

The decider went neck and neck till the first five points before Satwik and Chirag pocketed seven straight points to race to 12-5 lead.

The Koreans tried hard to bounce back and at one time levelled the scores at 16-16 but that is when Satwik and Chirag stepped it up and closed out the game and the match. The BWF World Tour is divided into six levels, namely World Tour Finals, four Super 1000, six Super 750, seven Super 500, and 11 Super 300 in order. One other category of tournament, the BWF Tour Super 100 level, also offers ranking points.

Birmingham, Jun 17 (AP):

England seamer Stuart Broad dismissed topranked test batter Marnus Labuschagne for a golden duck on Saturday after David Warner had self-destructed as England reduced Australia to 78-3 at lunch on the second day of the Ashes opener.

The hosts took advantage of more bowlerfriendly conditions to leave Australia still trailing by 315 runs.

England captain Ben Stokes claimed another key dismissal, trapping second-ranked Steve Smith leg before wicket just when Australia seemed to be recovering.

Australia went to lunch with a run-rate that was half that of England's in its 393-8 declared late on the first day. Opener Usman Khawaja hit a solid 40 not out and thirdranked Travis Head, who has a lot of work to do for his team, is 8 not out.

Broad took 2-17 and Stokes 1-6 from his three overs. Australia had resumed on 14-0 in overcast conditions after a spot of rain. There was a moderate breeze as the English and Australian flags fluttered next to the slow-moving scoreboard. England started with three maiden overs, two bowled by Broad and one by James Anderson. The slow start to the second day may have contributed to Warner's impatience. The breeze died down the sun came out and Smith who scored 144 and 142 at Edgbaston in the 2019 Ashes series started to look settled, sharing a 38-run partnership with Khawaja. And then Stokes struck.

Desai won 11-7, 5-11, 11-7, 11-1 after having stunned top seeded Korean Jang Woojin in the pre-quarterfinals on Friday. The No. 134 ranked Indian proved that his win over the Korean was no fluke when he took on the 20-year-old Chinese and a distinct favourite to win the tie against the Indian. The 29-year-old Indian had the measure of the game easily. Known for his attacking prowess, the Chinese fought back well in the second in which the Indian paddler made several unforced errors. But soon. Harmeet hit the groove to go 2-1 up. # CM slams 'Adipurush' over portrayal of Lord Ram

Says govt will think about ban if people want

Raipur, Jun 17: Chief Minister Bhupesh Baghel on Saturday alleged an attempt was made to tarnish the image of Lord Ram and Lord Hanuman in the movie "Adipurush' and said the Congress government may consider banning it in the state if people demand so. He alleged that dialogues in the film are "objectionable and indecent" and questioned the "silence" of political parties which call themselves the custodian of religion, an apparent jibe at BJP. When asked by reporters whether the state government will ban this movie, Baghel said, "The government will think about it (ban) if people will raise a demand in this > direction". "An attempt is being made to tarnish the image of all our deities. We have seen the gentle face of Lord Ram and that of Lord Hanuman drenched in devotion, but from the last few years an attempt is being made to change this image," he told reporters at his official residence. Baghel said Hanuman has been introduced as a symbol of wisdom, power and devotion since our childhood, but in this film. "Lord Ram is shown as the 'Yuddhak' (warrior) Ram and Hanuman as the angry bird".

Neither our ancestors imagined such an image of Lord Hanuman nor our society accepts it, he added. 'The dialogues and language used in this movie are indecent. In Tulasidas' Ramayana, Lord Ram was portrayed as 'Maryada Purushottam' and decent language was used. In 'Adipurush', dialogues of characters are of very low level," he said.

Prabhas-starrer "Adipurush", a retelling of the epic Ramayana, was released on Friday.

"When Rajiv Gandhi was the prime minister, he had suggested to Ramanand Sagar to make the epic serial Ramayana which became hugely popular. The pictures of Lord Ram and Hanuman were distorted on the pretext of 'Adipurush' and indecent words were put in the mouths of the characters. What the young generation will learn from this?" he questioned.

He alleged Lord Bajrang bali is made to speak the language of Bajrang Dal in this movie.

"Why people of those political parties who call them the custodian of religion are silent on this movie? Why BJP leaders who kept giving statements on 'The Kashmir Files' and 'The Kerala Story' are silent on 'Adipursh'? Even lowerrung leaders of the BJP are not speaking anything on this," Baghel alleged. Chhattisgarh goes to polls later this year.

Holds need for major judicial and law reforms in the country SSPM to organize lecture series on 'Ram Rajya and Indian Constitution' today at MAIC in

Raipur

Raipur, Jun 17: Advocate in the Supreme Court Ashwini Upadhyay said that religious conversion is biggest threat to establishing 'Ram Rajya' in the country , apart from casteism. Naxalism. Maoism just to name a few. Holding need for major judicial reforms and new laws in the country, Ashwini claimed that 80% of the solution to country's problems lies in the hands of law and both the Centre and state should take initiative to form new laws and make reforms at their own level, so as to grant timely justice to people. Addressing a press conference here prior to the lecture series on 'Ram Rajya and Indian Constitution', Ashwini Advocate Upadhyay informed that this is being organized in

Terming population explosion as the biggest problem in the country, Advocate Ashwini Upadhyay said that in the human history, it was Lord Shri Ram who started the policy of birth control through 'Hum Do Hamare do' and that of Common Civil Code and Common Education System. He said that the Constitution of India is advocates establishing 'Ram Rajya', be it 'Vasudev Kutumbakam' or 'Sarv Dharm Sambhav' or 'Sabka Vikas-Desh Ka Vikas' and this needs to be intensively promoted as well. Holding need to change many a laws in the judiciary, Advocate Upadhyay said that Indian laws have been made by the Britishers and still it requires massive changes and reforms, as there is vast different between

Indian thinking and that of foreigners. Even the founders of the Constitution wanted

India's constitution based upon 'Ram Rajya'. To a question as to whether India should be called 'Hindu Rashtra' or 'Ram Rajya', Upadhyay said that the makers of the Constitution favoured 'Ram Rajya' and Hindism is a way of life and it just does not excludes the philosophy of 'Ram Rajva', be it equality, fundamental rights or others. Charging that religious conversion going on is Chhattisgarh on a large scale, Advocate Upadhyay in questioned as to why the state government has not imposed NSA against those involved till date. Claiming that it is being done in an organized manner, it is not only affecting a family, but a person's thoughts, religious function and overall patriotism. Irrespective of the government in power, both the Centre and state must imposed strict ban on religious conversion, then be it through NSA or Gangster Act or others, he added.

It is notable here that SC Advocate Ashwini Upadhyay is known for filing many petitions in the Court be it on social, law, administration or others and in last five years he has got the honour of filing more than 50 petitions in the Court and his efforts were praised by the SC in July 2022 saying that a special bench be formed for the petitions filed by Advocate Ashwini Upadhyay. Through a petition in 2021, he played an important role wherein it was directed that no criminal cases against any MLA or MP be withdrawn without the permission of High Court of that particular state.

MOMENTUM RITE Project helps for successful vaccination campaign

Central Chronicle News

Kanker, June 17: The MOMENTUM Routine Immunization Transformation and Equity (RITE) Project, supported by the U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID), commemorates the achievements of the vaccination campaign in Chhattisgarh.

The Project along with local non-governmental organizations like SAMARTHAN, Transport Corporation of India (TCI) Foundation, HelpAge India, Shanta Memorial Rehabilitation Center (SMRC), The Leprosy Mission Trust India (TLMTI) played a crucial role to build vaccine confidence amongst priority groups.

The global outbreak of the pandemic had a significant impact on communities worldwide, with marginalized populations like Tribal, particularly vulnerable tribal groups (PVTG), transgender, pregnant, and lactating women, etc. facing particularly severe consequences. Among these vulnerable groups were pregnant and lactating women in low-resource settings, who faced unique health challenges for both themselves and their infants. Despite the obstacles, ASHAs, ANMs, and Anganwadi workers played a vital role mobilizing these in women, ensuring their timely completion of vaccination doses. Additionally, the team established COVID-19 vaccination camps in both urban and rural areas of Chhattisgarh to ensure comprehensive vaccination coverage among the elderly population within the community.

Engagement with school groups played an important role as change agents in the COVID-19 vaccination drive. The traditional game of 'Snake and Ladder' was customized with COVID-19 messaging. This creative representation of positive vaccine messaging lead to increased vaccine confi### dence.

NSS volunteers from government schools demonstrated their dedication by conducting doorto-door campaigns, actively engaging communities, and promoting awareness about the COVID-19 vaccine.

On the success of the campaign, Dr. Gopal K. Soni, Project Director, Momentum Routine Immunization Transformation & Equity Project said "The vaccination campaign against COVID-19 in Chhattisgarh showcased an exceptional level of commitment from the state government, project team, and vaccinators who went above and beyond to ensure that vaccination reached high-risk and underserved communities.

Villagers face increasing challenges

from overloaded vehicles

Magarload, June 17: The ongoing construction of the Bharat Mala road, aimed at directly connecting Raipur to Visakhapatnam via the development block of Kurud through Magarload, has resulted in mounting difficulties for local villagers. The presence of numerous overloaded vehicles involved in the road construction has led to significant problems, including dust and mud issues. Both drivers and villagers find themselves grappling with these challenges, particularly when gusts of wind carry the airborne dust particles, causing inconvenience to commuters. It is worth noting that the ABD company is currently responsible for the road widening construction project, encompassing drain construction and road development. Unfortunately, the continuous movement of overloaded vehicles engaged in the Bharat Mala road construction has led to the road's deterioration, necessitating repeated compensation and repairs. Residents from villages such as Megha, Kareli Chhoti, Chhipli, Luge, Mohandi, and other areas situated alongside the road have voiced their concerns. They have highlighted the incomplete status of the road constructed by the ABD company, resulting in pervasive mud accumulation. The constant flow of heavy vehicles generates excessive dust, significantly impacting the well-being and tranquility of the villagers.

Among other party Marriyum leaders, Aurangzeb was picked as the secretary of information, Ataullah Tarar as the deputy secretary, and Ishaq Dar as the secretary of finance and overseas affairs.

The elections were uncontested, apparently indicating a show of unity within the PML-N, but actually an indication of the iron grip by the Sharif family members who virtually hand-picked every office holder of the party. Shehbaz was elevated in 2018 to hold the reins of the party after his elder brother as well as former premier Nawaz Sharif was first disqualified as prime minister and later barred by the country's apex court to lead the party as the president.

Monsoon Relief

Biparjoy's Remnant Signals Hope for East India

he monsoon's progress over east India has been hindered by a prolonged heat wave and the absence of any significant weather systems over the Bay of Bengal. However, meteorologists now foresee a glimmer of hope in the form of the remnant of cyclone Biparjoy. This residual weather phenomenon is expected to bring much-needed rain to parts of Uttar Pradesh and Madhya Pradesh, while also assisting in the advancement of the monsoon. According to experts, Biparjoy's remnants are projected to move in a north-eastward direction, resulting in rainfall across central and east Uttar Pradesh as well as Madhya Pradesh. While monitoring the situation, Mrutyunjay Mohapatara, Director General of the Indian Meteorological Department (IMD), highlighted that additional factors such as an increase in cross-equatorial flow over the Arabian Sea and the Bay of Bengal could also contribute to the monsoon's advancement alongside the cyclone remnants. Favorable conditions for the monsoon's progress over east India and other parts of the southern region are expected from June 18 to June 21, as stated by IMD's Director General. Mahesh Palawat, the vice president of meteorology and climate change at Skymet Weather, further elaborated that after delivering heavy rainfall in Rajasthan, the system would pull the monsoonal winds, facilitating the monsoon's advancement over central and east India starting from June 20. While some meteorologists attribute the delayed and relatively mild onset of the monsoon over Kerala to the presence of the cyclone, the IMD holds a different perspective. Regardless, the monsoon has already covered several regions, including the northeast, Tamil Nadu, Kerala, parts of Andhra Pradesh, Karnataka, Bihar, and West Bengal. It is worth noting that a delayed monsoon onset over Kerala does not necessarily indicate a delay in the monsoon's arrival over northwest India. Scientists have observed that even during El Niño years, which typically result in weaker monsoon winds and drier conditions in India, the impact on the total rainfall during the season is not significant. As the monsoon season progresses, normal rainfall becomes crucial for India's agricultural landscape. Approximately 52 percent of the country's cultivated area depends on the monsoon, which is essential for food production, water reservoir replenishment, and power generation. The IMD predicts normal to belownormal rainfall in northwest India, while the east and northeast, central, and south peninsula regions are expected to receive rainfall within 94-106 percent of the long-period average. Maintaining normal rainfall levels is vital for India's food security and economic stability, as rainfed agriculture alone contributes about 40 percent of the country's total food production. While challenges persist, the remnants of Biparjoy offer hope for the advancement of the monsoon and relief for east India, where anticipation for rain has been building amidst the scorching heat.

Rising Terror Threat UN Report Highlights Afghanistan's Troubling Landscape

recent United Nations report on terrorism in Afghanistan has shed light on the deep-rooted connections between the Taliban, Al-Qaeda, and the Tehrik-e-Taliban Pakistan (TTP). These alliances paint a grim picture of the escalating terrorism threat faced not only by Afghanistan but also by the entire region. Despite the Taliban's assurances of countering terrorism, their continued support for extremist groups and their request for counter-terrorism assistance against their rival ISIL-Khorasan Province (ISIL-K) raise serious concerns. India, in particular, must remain vigilant as it faces direct threats from Al-Qaeda in the Indian Subcontinent (AOIS) and the Islamic State of Irag and the Levant (ISIL) in Khorasan, both operating from Afghanistan. AQIS explicitly targets India as one of its primary objectives, aiming to establish an Islamic Caliphate in the Indian subcontinent through the overthrow of existing governments and the imposition of its extremist ideology. AQIS has been involved in various terrorist activities in India, including attacks, recruitment, and radicalization efforts. ISIL-Khorasan Province, also known as ISIL-K, is a regional branch of ISIL operating in Afghanistan and Pakistan, with its focus on establishing a presence in the Khorasan region, which spans parts of Afghanistan, Pakistan, Iran, and Central Asia. The recent arrest of individuals linked to the ISIL-K module in Kashmir and Guiarat underscores the imminent threat posed by these terrorist organizations operating from Afghanistan. The presence and activities of these terrorist groups in Afghanistan pose a grave threat to India's security and interests. These organizations, including the Taliban, Al-Qaeda, and TTP, have historically maintained close ties with extremist elements in Pakistan. Afghan territory has been exploited as a safe haven for planning, training, and launching attacks. The dissemination of extremist ideologies through online platforms further exacerbates the radicalization of vulnerable individuals, inciting them to carry out acts of terrorism within India. Additionally, Afghanistan's status as a major producer of illicit drugs, particularly opium and heroin, adds another layer of concern. Terrorist organizations often engage in drug trafficking to fund their operations, with the consequences of this illicit trade already being felt in India, contributing to drug abuse, addiction, and associated social problems. The repercussions of terrorist attacks, refugee influxes, and the spread of extremist ideologies extend beyond national borders, leading to regional tensions and security challenges. In light of these factors, it is imperative for India to closely monitor and address the threat posed by these terrorist organizations. Cooperation with international partners, intelligence sharing, robust border management, and effective counter-terrorism measures are essential to mitigate this menace and uphold regional security. Jammu and Kashmir, as a historically targeted region. must remain extra vigilant. The involvement of Kashmiri youth in the ISIL-Khorasan module serves as a stark reminder of the ongoing challenges. Strengthening intelligence capabilities becomes paramount in the face of these evolving threats. Furthermore, it is crucial to closely scrutinize the actions and policies of the Taliban Government and assess their impact on regional and global security. The international community must actively engage in monitoring and influencing the trajectory of Afghanistan to ensure stability and prevent the resurgence of terrorist networks. As terrorism continues to pose a significant threat, collective efforts and a comprehensive approach are necessary to safeguard peace, stability, and the well-being of nations in the region. Only through steadfast cooperation, intelligence-driven strategies, and resolute action can we effectively counter the growing terrorism menace emanating from Afghanistan and protect the shared interests of all nations involved.

RAJENDER KUMAR SHARMA

T he monsoon is grauuany becoming active in the southern regions of the country, marking the beginning of the rainy season. The sound of rain, the sweet smell of wet soil, and the greenery all around fill everyone with excitement and glee. During the rainy season, there is an increased demand for hot pakoras and tea. Everyone craves something hot, spicy, and fried. It feels just right to indulge in such food. However, this season also brings several cautionarv troubles

The arrival of monsoon after the scorching heat brings along viral, bacterial, fungal, vectorborne, and water-borne diseases. The reason behind this is that pathogenic microorganisms find a suitable warm and moist environment to multiply. Many health problems arise during this season due to contaminated food and water, such as cold, flu, malaria, dengue, typhoid, stomach-related diseases, and skin diseases. In such situations, our immunity acts as a shield against diseases, and maintaining healthy dietary habits also helps in disease prevention. By controlling our cravings, we can protect ourselves from illnesses. In our country, the rainy season lasts mainly for four months, known as Chaturmas (a group of four months). According to our ancient practices, there has been a tradition of fasting or consuming light, simple food during these four months, allowing our digestive system to rest and function properly. However, nowadays, we tend to go against these practices and invite diseases by consuming spicy, fried, and rich foods in the name of taste.

To ensure a balanced nutrition and immunity, it is crucial to maintain a diet that strikes a good balance between the two. In this season, you should pay special attention to what you eat and drink. Some general nutrition principles can help you stay healthy and enjoy the season. Here are some good food and diet habits that contribute to good health even in this season: Consumption of foods rich in Vitamin C: Vitamin C helps boost the body's immunity. Include citrus fruits and vegetables in your diet, such as lemon, amla, tomato, orange, sweet lime, tangerine, and papaya. Vitamin C aids in fighting infections like

Understanding the medicinal properties of spices: Some spices, like black pepper, turmeric, garlic, and ginger, strengthen our immune system. Use them for their nutritional benefits, not just for taste. Consuming basil, ginger decoction, lemon ginger water, etc., provides health benefits.

Turmeric: Turmeric is considered an immune booster in Ayurveda and is known as the Golden Spice of the Kitchen. The curcumin element present in turmeric has anti-infective properties. Drinking turmeric milk at home is still a common practice. Turmeric has antiseptic, antifungal, and antimicrobial properties.

Indian Tea (Decoction): Herbs like dry black pepper, ginger, cloves, cinnamon, cardamom, and basil leaves aid in boosting our immunity. Boil these ingredients well in water to make Indian tea or decoction. Cardamom and clove have antibacterial properties, black pepper prevents cold and flu, and cinnamon aids in blood circulation. Kadha can be a great alternative to tea during the monsoon.

Modi Government's Interference

The Modi government, allegedly aided by the Delhi Police, is accused of undermining a sexual harassment case involving Brij Bhushan Sharan Singh. Critics argue that the government aims to weaken the case, securing Singh's exoneration. Wrestler girls' testimonies should be taken seriously, given the prevalence of sexual harassment among women athletes. This situation draws parallels to the Larry Nassar case, where a doctor abused numerous young female athletes for years. However, obtaining concrete evidence in cases involving guardian misconduct is challenging, emphasizing the importance of trusting the wrestlers' accounts. Concerns arise regarding justice in a country where political power plays a significant role, especially with an approaching election. Additionally, suspicions persist that the government pressured a minor's father into retracting his daughter's complaint, further eroding rights and personal opinions of young women regarding harassment. The Delhi Police's swift dismissal of evidence and request to cancel the POCSO case exemplify the influence of powerful figures in Indian politics. The athletes' quest for justice remains doubtful.

Rahul's Truck Journey

Congress leader Rahul Gandhi embarked on a unique adventure during his visit to the United States, traveling from Washington to New York in a truck. This isn't the first time Gandhi has taken to the roads in a truck: he previously undertook a similar journey in Punjab to understand the challenges faced by truck drivers. Throughout his trip, he emphasized that American trucks are far more comfortable than their Indian counterparts, highlighting the lack of concern for driver comfort in India. Tejinder Gill, a truck driver accompanying him, expressed admiration for the high level of safety and the absence of police interference and theft concerns in American trucks. Gandhi believes that the Indian government should prioritize providing similar facilities in trucks and eradicate corruption, thereby ensuring a prosperous and secure

Internet: Balancing Act

In the modern era, the internet has seamlessly integrated into our daily lives, making it nearly impossible to disconnect. The internet brings a multitude of advantages, including online education, easy access to information, cashless transactions, and global connectivity. However, its impact on children and students is a concern, often diverting their attention from studies. It is crucial for parents and teachers to play an active role in guiding young individuals on the responsible and positive use of digital tools while helping them navigate away from the potential negative effects. By striking a balance, we can harness the internet's potential while safeguarding the well-being of our younger generation.

Rathin Kumar Chanda

ehold the revered pilgrimage В that unites India, connecting every corner of the nation through roadways, railways, and air. This hallowed destination, known far and wide, radiates its divine aura through the Jagannath Temple and the grand spectacle of Rathyatra, an annual festival that enthralls the masses in Puri. For 42 days, the resplendent Rath or chariot is painstakingly crafted with 4000 sacred woods, transported via riverways. Once the Rathyatra concludes, these woods are used to prepare the voga, a symbolic food offering to Lord Jagannath for the entire year.

Throughout history, the Rathyatra of Puri has faced numerous disruptions, with various rulers attempting to assert control over this sacred procession and even demolish the Hindu archaeological foundation. From 1568 to 1577, the Rathyatra was halted for a formidable nine years due to the villainous actions of Kalapahar. Attacks on Puri led to suspensions in 1601. 1607, 1611, and 1617. Muslim rulers unleashed an assault on the Puri temple, resulting in a two-year suspension from 1621 to 1623. The most prolonged interruption occurred from 1692, lasting a staggering 13 years. Another black year arrived in 1731, with the Rathyatra ceasing for three years until 1735.

Puri holds a special place in the hearts of Bengalis, serving as the ideal destination for a comfortable, secure, and delightful getaway. It embodies the dreams of Bengalis, a place where they can visit at any time of the year without the burden of exorbitant hotel expenses or everyday life pressures. Puri has become a second home for Bengalis, with their thoughts instantly gravitating towards this enchanting location whenever the idea of a tour emerges.

Indeed, Puri offers tranquility by the sea, a haven for those seeking solace. Time loses its significance as days, weeks, and even months pass beside the Bay of Bengal, with waves crashing onto the shores. The mesmerizing vistas of sunrise and sunset paint nature's canvas with breathtaking beauty. Each visit unveils a new facet of this enchanting coastal destination, where the allure of its natural wonders seems limitless. As night falls, the sight of candlelit trawlers adrift in the sea, fishing for their bounty, is a captivating sight. The diligent lifeguards, or Nulias, are always vigilant in ensuring the safety of tourists.

Another delightful surprise awaits within the realms of the Jagannath Temple, where the architectural marvels and archaeological wonders leave an indelible impression on all who visit. Bengalis have known Lord Jagannath since the days of Sri Chaitanya, who embarked on a pilgrimage to Puri to seek darshan of his beloved deity, Lord Krishna, in the form of Lord Jagannath. The temple premises. steeped in historical and mythical significance, never cease to fascinate disciples who come to pay their respects.

Witnessing the flag-hoisting ceremony atop the temple at dusk is a spectacle that captivates the senses. Each day, curious onlookers ascend the temple steps, eagerly awaiting this momentous event. The temple opens its doors to countless devotees from around the world, granting them the privilege of witnessing Lord Jagannath's divine presence, free of charge. For those fortunate enough, the opportunity to have a personal encounter with Lord Jagannath through a payon-visit arrangement is truly a cherished moment. Anticipation builds as devotees eagerly await the prasad, the sacred offering from the temple. Each culinary creation from this revered place becomes a source of joy and fulfillment for the faithful followers. The flavors and aromas of the prasad tantalize the taste buds, creating a sense of anticination and spiritual nourishment. Rathyatra and the Jagannath

Temple stand as testaments to the enduring faith and devotion of millions of devotees. Despite the challenges and disruptions faced over the years, the spirit of this grand festival remains unyielding. It is a reminder of the profound connection between the divine and the mortal, and the unwavering belief that transcends time. As we embark on this sacred journey, let us cherish

the traditions and cultural heritage that Rathyatra represents. Let us honor the struggles and sacrifices of our ancestors who fought to preserve this ancient pilgrimage. May the divine blessings of Lord Jagannath guide us along the path of righteousness and fill our hearts with love, compassion, and spiritual enlightenment.

Rathyatra is not merely a procession; it is a celebration of faith, unity, and devotion. It serves as a reminder of our collective responsibility to safeguard our cultural heritage and uphold the sanctity of holy places. Let us come together, as one community, to protect and preserve the sacredness of Rathyatra for future generations. As the sun sets on the horizon, let us revel in the beauty of this mystical coastal town and immerse ourselves in the divine aura that envelops Puri. Let us embrace the tranquility of the sea, the serenity of the temple, and the camaraderie of fellow devotees. May this Rathyatra awaken our souls, ignite our spirits. and inspire us to lead lives filled with devotion, compassion, and righteousness.

So, my fellow travelers on this spiritual odyssey, let us embark on this sacred Rathyatra with reverence, gratitude, and a deep sense of awe. Let us cherish the memories we create, the blessings we receive, and the lessons we learn along the way. May the divine presence of Lord Jagannath guide us on this holy pilgrimage and may our journey be filled with resplendent joy, inner peace, and divine blessings. Rathyatra beckons us, and it is our duty to heed its call. Let us embark on this transformative journey, united in our faith and reverence, as we pay homage to the eternal divine.

Jai Jagannath!

Jakarta, Jun 17 (PTI):

Indian men's doubles duo of Satwiksairaj Rankireddy and Chirag Shetty fought hard to advance to the final, but it was curtains for HS Prannoy in the men's singles semifinals of the Indonesia Open World Tour Super 1000 event here on Saturday.

The Commonwealth Games gold medalist duo of Satwik and Chirag, seeded seventh, overcame a game deficit to beat unseeded Min Hyuk Kang and Seung Jae Seo of Korea 17-21 21-19 21-18 to seal their maiden Super-1000 final berth.

The win also extended their overall head-to-head record over Kang and Seo to 3-2.

It was Prannoy's sixth loss against the Dane in the international circuit as against two wins.

The men's doubles began on an even keel before the Korean pair surged ahead to 6-3. Once they conceded the lead, Satwik and Chirag were forced to play a catchup game.

The Indians used their aggressive play to reduce the margin to 15-19 and then 17-20 before Kang and Seo kept their composure to pocket the first game, courtesy an unforced error.

The Indians looked more purposeful after the change of ends and took an early 6-3 lead before racing to 11-4 with a flurry of fast paced shots and body smashes in the second game.

England seamer Stuart Broad dismissed topranked test batter Marnus Labuschagne for a golden duck on Saturday after David Warner had self-destructed as England reduced Australia to 78-3 at lunch on the second day of the Ashes opener.

The hosts took advantage of more bowlerfriendly conditions to leave Australia still trailing by 315 runs.

England captain Ben Stokes claimed another key dismissal, trapping second-ranked Steve Smith leg before wicket just when Australia seemed to be recovering.

Australia went to lunch with a run-rate that was half that of England's in its 393-8 declared late on the first day. Opener Usman Khawaja hit a solid 40 not out and thirdranked Travis Head, who has a lot of work to do for his team, is 8 not out.

Broad took 2-17 and Stokes 1-6 from his three overs. Australia had resumed on 14-0 in overcast conditions after a spot of rain. There was a moderate breeze as the English and Australian flags fluttered next to the slow-moving scoreboard.

England started with three maiden overs, two bowled by Broad and one by James Anderson. The slow start to the second day may have contributed to Warner's impatience.

The breeze died down the sun came out and Smith who scored 144 and 142 at Edgbaston in the 2019 Ashes series started to look settled, sharing a 38-run partnership with Khawaja. And then Stokes struck.
